About the author, Claude McCullough, much could be written. He is the newly elected president of the Academy of Model Aeronautics and has served with distinction as the AMA's Contest Board Chairman for the past several years. An Ottumwa, Iowa, farmer, "Mac" is currently raising beefstock. As a long-time contest flyer and model designer his planes and thought-provoking articles are known 'round the model building world. Since the 1951 National Championship meet he has confined his main activity to radio controlled models.
